PROHIBITION PROOF OF GOD'S POWER

"Prohibition was brought about by the power of God," said Rev. Chester Howe of New London in a forceful sermon on the Power of God, at the Central Baptist church on Sunday evening.

It was through the power of God and the constant hammering of the Christian people that freed this land of the saloon, said the speaker.

Rev. Mr. Howe filled the pulpit in the absence of the pastor, Rev. A. F. Purkins, on his vacation, and said in part: "Have you ever observed how keen the advertising man is to read human nature? How he in his advertisements, appeals to certain qualities in this human makeup. Take the automobile advertisement in our current periodicals. Some appeal to the sense of exclusiveness, others appeal to the public because of the cheapness of operation. But have you ever noticed the one quality which all make strong mention of the quality of power. Everyone wants plenty of power."

As in the automobile, there is a certain quality in the Christian religion that appeals and that the power of God. We have this promise of power. We find evidence of it all through the Bible. In the 40th chapter of Isaiah we find the promise of power in God's hand.
